"VIEW FROM THE PEW"

Will You Be My Valentine?

The first time I realized that there were things called valentines was in first grade. My first grade teacher, Miss Alice Zeil, explained about Valentine's Day the week before and told the class how we were going to celebrate it – we would give out valentines to each other! Miss Zeil was the quintessential first grade teacher. She taught us everything in life we would ever need to know. With her experienced eye, she could tell early on what kind of person you would become. On my very first marking period, she wrote on my report card: "Danny has a messy desk." Looking at my desk now, she was on to something. She had been teaching first grade forever, and as only can happen in a small town, she taught my father thirty-five years before. She lived near us and she remembered me when I would see her every now and then around the neighborhood. She would speak to me as if I was still a first grader.

A couple days before Valentine's Day, Mom took me to the Ben Franklin and we bought a package of valentines. You had to give one to everyone in the class and Mom had to help me address them and spell some of the names. On the big day, we took turns passing them out. Everybody had to put his or her head down on the desk so you couldn't see who was giving you one. Miss Ziel of course, got one from everyone too. Instead of a valentine, she gave each of us one of those candy hearts with some saying on it.

When I was a senior in high school, Mom was throwing out a bunch of stuff and low and behold, there was one of those old elementary school valentines that had never been addressed in the discard pile. I pulled it out and when Valentine's Day came, almost as a lark, I signed it and took it to Miss Ziel's house. Long retired, she was so genuinely appreciative that I was embarrassed. It didn't occur to me that anyone could get so emotional because someone had remembered them with something as simple as an old valentine. Looking back, even at a young age, it was an epiphany. It wasn't the valentine, it was just letting her know she was remembered. It was that I had taken time to do something special for her. I guess we all need to know we are loved – it's a core human trait.

I'm sure there are a number of people whom you know that could use a valentine this Covid year -- a senior citizen, a sibling, a neighbor, an old friend, a shut-in, even someone in a nursing home that you don't know. Letting that individual know that they are not forgotten but are remembered and loved is such a simple thing. It's a small gesture but one that has immense rewards for both of you. This year, send that someone a card and a short note:

"Will you be my valentine?" ❤️

And to dust you shall return

Necessity is the mother of invention. So, through some online investigation, I have learned that the service for Ash Wednesday may be lay led. This year, leadership for our Ash Wednesday livestream service on February 17 at 7:00 p.m., will be shared by the Sr. Wardens from Christ Church, St. Mark's, and St. Paul's. The service is not long, but it is powerful as it invites us to the observance of a holy Lent. We read a short history of Lent and follow, if one so chooses, with the imposition of ashes.

Ashes will be available for self-imposition at home by calling the office at 570-278-2954. You may either pick them up during office hours or ask, by February 11, for them to be mailed to you.

The service then continues with Psalm 51 and a Litany of Penitence. The readings set a solemn tone for the 40 days of Lent (which do not include Sundays.) Observance of this season by self-examination and repentance; prayer, fasting and self-denial; and by reading and meditating on God's holy Word, prepares us for the joy of celebrating Easter. Join us online as we begin this holy season. Lynne

Pancake Supper Canceled this Year

A St. Paul's tradition has been that the men of the parish cook a pancake supper on the Tuesday night before Ash Wednesday. It's Marti Gras. However, due to Covid restrictions, it is canceled this year. It would have been on February 16th.

Valentine's Day Edition

5th Sunday After Epiphany

A mighty fortress is our God, a bulwark never failing;
our helper He amid the flood of mortal ills prevailing.

LOVE

If I speak in the tongues of mortals and of angels, but do not have love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. And if I have prophetic powers, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith, so as to remove mountains, but do not have love, I am nothing. If I give away all my possessions, and if I hand over my body so that I may boast, but do not have love, I gain nothing.

Love is patient; love is kind; love is not envious or boastful or arrogant or rude. It does not insist on its own way; it is not irritable or resentful; it does not rejoice in wrongdoing, but rejoices in the truth. It bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

Love never ends. But as for prophecies, they will come to an end; as for tongues, they will cease; as for knowledge, it will come to an end. For we know only in part, and we prophesy only in part; but when the complete comes, the partial will come to an end. When I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child; when I became an adult, I put an end to childish ways. For now we see in a mirror, dimly, but then we will see face to face. Now I know only in part; then I will know fully, even as I have been fully known. And now faith, hope, and love abide, these three; and the greatest of these is love. (Corinthians 13: 1-13)

GIVE ME HOPE (From Guerrillas of Grace)

O God, This is a hard time, a season of confusion, a frantic rush
to fill my closets, my schedule, and my mind, only to find myself empty.

Give me hope, Lord,
and remind me of your steady power and gracious purposes that I may live full.

Renew my faith that the earth is not destined for dust and darkness,

but for frolicking life and deep joy that, being set free from my anxiety for the future,
I may take the risks of love today.

February 7th Service

A snowy morning. The February 7th live-streamed Morning Prayer service was led by Tom Undercoffler. It was the 5th Sunday after Epiphany and snowing pretty hard. The announcements and the readings were done by Lynne Graham. The part for the heating system finally came in and it was warm in church for the first time in four weeks. Mary Ann DeWitt played the organ Prelude, A Mighty Fortress is Our God, organ Meditation, and Postlude. If you are wondering, before the service, the team gets together to decide who is reading what. As with all our live-streamed services, you can watch it any time on YouTube.

Joe Welden Video Put on Facebook

A Joe Welden video was recently put on St. Paul's Facebook page. Joe is shown as doing a rendition of his "Got a Vegetarian Woman". (Esther, is that you?) You don't need to be a Facebook member to see it. Just go to St. Paul's webpage, click the Facebook Icon and go to Posts. Take a look and sing along.

St. Mark's History Published

A history of St. Mark's Church, 1817-2020 has been just published by Spencer Printing in Honesdale and is on sale at St. Mark's. It is 120 pages and covers both the history of the church and the settling of New Milford. For copies, call Joan Flint at 570-879-2907. Copies of St. Paul's 146-page history are still available in the Office for $15.
